

PRIME MINISTER • PREMIER MINISTRE

I am pleased to extend my warmest greetings to everyone attending the 2007 Canadian Undergraduate Technology Conference.

Canada's economic development is strongly linked to technological innovation and research. This symposium, now in its eight year, offers students, academics and industry leaders an ideal forum in which to exchange information and ideas about cutting-edge technological research. With its hands-on workshops and technological displays, this event will no doubt enhance participants' knowledge and skills, thereby contributing to Canada's competitiveness and prosperity.

I would like to commend the organizers for putting together a program that is sure to stimulate a great deal of thoughtful discussion. I know that students will gain valuable insight into the challenges and opportunities awaiting them while enjoying the camaraderie and social interaction that are an essential part of this experience.

On behalf of the Government of Canada, please accept my best wishes for a memorable and productive meeting.
